Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000. Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

Claims 1-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Downs et al.

Downs shows, section IX, columns 70-79, an electronic digital content store 103 (first device, providing merchandise) displays price and description of electronic content 113. The end-user device 109 (second device), columns 79-89, is able to evaluate and select electronic content. The store and the end-user communicate via the Internet (includes wire and wireless). The end-user device can, upon request, download self-installing applications, mainly player application 195, which is designed for customization by being based on software object. (column 86, lines 26-27)

Art Unit: 3627

Merchandise is outputted via secure container (SC, columns 24-39) and includes an expiration date (column 25, line 29). Product Ids (serial numbers) are used to identify the particular electronic content selected. The store has many functions that interact with the web server's (code or identification inherent) commerce services to create and download to the end-user device the files necessary to initiate the content download process. They also handle optional interactions to provide authorizations (codes) and accept notifications of completion of activities. (column 72, lines 54-59)

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Wilf et al. shows an e-commerce system of interest.
